

Customer Notification: Thermostat Ownership and Program Status

Thank you for your interest in switching from BGE's PeakRewards program to its Connected Rewards program. As part of this transition, the previously installed PeakRewards device at your premises will be disabled or removed and is no longer part of the PeakRewards program, and a technician will install a smart thermostat that is pre-enrolled in the Connected Rewards program. This new smart thermostat device is customer-owned and maintained. BGE neither owns nor maintains the new smart thermostat device.

At the time of installation, the technician will verify in the presence of the customer that all system modes are functioning correctly. The customer is responsible for the ongoing operation, maintenance, and any future issues related to the smart thermostat, including but not limited to device failure or replacement.

BGE does not warrant or guarantee the performance of the smart thermostat and assumes no liability for its operation. By accepting the installation of the smart thermostat device, the customer acknowledges and agrees to release and hold harmless BGE, its parent company, subsidiaries and affiliates, and each of their respective directors, officers, employees, agents, and representatives from any and all claims, demands, liabilities, costs, expenses, and damages arising from or related to the use or performance of the smart thermostat device and the disabling or removal of the PeakRewards device.

The customer has been provided with the BGE Connected Rewards terms and conditions, which are available at bge.com/CR.
